

Save Family Farms

Mallorie's Dairy Needs Your Help!

In a recommendation issued on April 13, 2005, USDA sided with large, powerful dairy interests including Dairy Farmers of America (the largest dairy cooperative in the nation) and Dean Foods (the largest milk processor in the nation).

Here's what they plan: Tax four independent family farms located in the Pacific Northwest and Arizona over one million dollars each per year and give that money to others in the dairy industry. Consumers get stuck with higher prices while the big guys increase their profits.

You Can Make a Difference! USDA has made a terrible error in siding with these large dairy cooperatives and processors, but we can still get them to change their recommendation. We are asking you to help us and all consumers by making your voice heard!

Learn More!

Visit www.keepmilkpriceslow.org to learn more about the USDA recommendation and how you can help!

Deadline for input is June 13!
 Submit your input at www.keepmilkpriceslow.org